training for mission

An Amazing Place

Set in 12 acres of beautiful grounds and woodland just 45 minutes from both London and Cambridge, Easneye house is a fine example of a mid- Victorian Gothic style stately home. Its architect, Alfred Waterhouse clearly had a gift in creating beautiful buildings. His other masterpieces include London's Natural History Museum and Waterhouse Square.

Today Easneye House is part of the All Nations campus, a Christian college devoted to cross-cultural mission training and hosting conferences.
