

Modular Study Options – 2025/26

This document applies to those who wish to take individual modules rather than follow a full time programme of study. Unless otherwise specified these Fees apply to both undergraduate and postgraduate modules.

Note	Description of charges	2025-26 Fees (£)
1	Module Application Fee (non refundable)	52.50
2	Module Tuition Fee per module	475.00
	Undergraduate Fee for marking all assessments and assignments for a 10-15 credit module	52.50
	Undergraduate Fee for marking all assessments and assignments for a 20 credit module	105.00
3	Full Board Accommodation per night	32.60
4	Lunch and refreshments per day	10.80

Notes

1. When applying for modules, an application fee needs to be paid. This fee is in addition to the module Tuition fee and is non refundable. No discount or refund applies if you haven't been enrolled or accepted into the module. A further application fee will apply only in the event of a gap of more than one year between studies.

2. The Module Fee is for online or on campus for undergraduate and postgraduate modules. For the bridging modules, if two or more modules are completed, you will be entitled to a credit towards the first term fees of the postgraduate course. For two modules completed and paid in full you will receive £120 credit, three modules £240 and four modules £360. This is the maximum credit towards the postgraduate first term course fees. The credit is purely for the continuation of the postgraduate programme. No discount or refund applies if you haven't been enrolled or accepted into the postgraduate programme.

3 Full board includes breakfast lunch and dinner. This rate includes the night before and after the course dates. Full board accommodation for extra added nights will be charged at the normal full board guest rate of £52.50 per night.

4 For postgraduate students not staying at college, it is possible to buy a hot or cold lunch and receive refreshments at the college. This must be organised beforehand via email ma@allnations.ac.uk.

General

Since modular students cannot be registered with the Open University, any marked assignments will not gain transferrable credits. The College will however provide all students with a letter of attendance or transcript stating the modules were part of The OU validated undergraduate programme.

Students will be expected to abide by all relevant College policies, particularly the College Code of Conduct and the Student Payment Policy.

Community Involvement:

All module students are welcome to attend the Sunday evening worship service and Wednesday morning Community Worship. Students are encouraged to additionally attend: Kick Off, tutor groups, Contemporary Issues in Mission (CIM), and social events.

Amenities Fee

All students who are Campus Access Learners will need to pay the Amenities fee if they are not living or staying in College accommodation (whether full board or in a self-catered property). See Amenities Fee sheet for further details.

Accommodation

We usually have spare capacity for single or shared rooms; couples and family accommodation is more limited and allocated on a points system. Please see our policy document on accommodation priorities for more details.

For family rented accommodation on site, which is self-catered, full time students are given higher priority in the allocations than those who wish to only do modules.

During the Holidays

Should modular students visit the College during the holidays, (unless attending a short course), please note that facilities which they might normally expect to enjoy may not be available to them, since we run as a conference centre at this time. For example:

- There is absolutely NO ACCESS to any student's term time accommodation
- The only lounge available to you during the holidays is the Aspen lounge
- Only one College car is available to be booked during the holidays
- Meals are only available on a full-board rate over the holidays and must be pre-booked and paid for.
- The College is completely closed at Christmas (from the evening of the last working day until offices open again after the New Year) and Easter (Maundy Thursday evening until the following Tuesday). We cannot accommodate any guests or students staying at College during these periods unless they are a family in a self-catering unit.
